

March Your Way to the Bookshelf: This Month's Reading Challenge for Kids

- Read a book written by a female author.
- Think about your favorite book character — and choose a book you think that character would like to read.
- Read a book with words and illustrations by the same person.
- Ask a Librarian: Visit your local library and ask a librarian to suggest a Newbery Medal- or Newbery Honor-winning book from the last two years.
- Read a nonfiction book about an accomplished woman you've never heard of.
- Read a book with a title that's a question.
- Ask a Librarian: Ask your local librarian to recommend a Caldecott Medal- or Caldecott Honor-winning book from the last two years.
- Pick a book you've read and loved, and make a bookmark inspired by it. (You'll find some DIY bookmark inspiration here.)
- Read aloud to your pet or favorite stuffed animal.
- Read a book by Dr. Seuss to celebrate his birthday, March 2. (Need ideas? Check out this list of Dr. Seuss stories for all ages!)
